FAQ

Where do I start?

Start by creating your account, downloading the client, and following the Getting Started pages in order.

Do I need a separate account for the game and panel?

Usually no. In most cases, your account details are shared unless the server specifically says otherwise.

What should I do if the patcher fails?

Close it, run it again, and make sure security software has not blocked any game files. If it still fails, ask for support and include a screenshot.

What should I do if I cannot log in?

Double-check your username and password, confirm your account was created successfully, and re-run the patcher before trying again.

Where do I find guides for classes and systems?

Use the Books section of the wiki. The Getting Started, New Player Guide, Game Systems, and Classes and Builds books will grow over time.

Where do I get help?

Discord should be your main support path for setup issues, account questions, and general help.

Is this page final?

Not yet. This FAQ is a starter version and will be expanded as common questions come up.
